

The British Naturopathic Association and General Council & Register of Naturopaths Student Membership

Students following courses of training in Naturopathy or naturopathic modalities recognised by the General Council and Register of Naturopaths are eligible to become student members of the British Naturopathic Association (BNA) and General Council and Register of Naturopaths (GCRN).

What are the functions of the BNA?

The BNA...

- Represents practitioners and students of Naturopathy
- Supports its members if they have any problems
- Publishes the British Naturopathic Journal Online
- Runs annual conferences and workshops
- Holds Study Days and other CPD events for practitioners and students
- Promotes Naturopathy to the public at natural health exhibitions and in the media
- Organises supervision for graduates

What are the functions of the General Council and Register of Naturopaths?

The GCRN...

- Maintains a register of qualified practitioners
- Accredits training courses in Naturopathy
- Handles patients' complaints against practitioners
- Seeks recognition of Naturopathy in primary care medicine
- Maintains standards in training and practice
- Produces a code of ethics for practitioners
- Runs a mentoring service for new and existing members

What are the benefits of Student Membership of the BNA and GCRN?

Student members receive...

- Reduced rates for attendance at courses and seminars
- Contact with experienced practitioners
- Free access to the online British Naturopathic Journal
- Representation at BNA Executive Council meetings
- Support via the BNA's website and forums
